

Hello. Welcome to the national year of communication - making children's communication skills a priority in schools and homes across the country in 2011.

Children and young people who find communication hard find life hard.

Join us at www.hello.org.uk to improve their life chances.

January

Hello. Don't take communication for granted

Early chatter matters – from bump to birth and beyond

Babbling babies don't turn into talkative toddlers by chance. It requires help and encouragement from you!

Not just words

Some children have little or no speech. They use facial expressions, signing, symbols or computer aids to communicate with others
