

Summer lecture: Reading, spelling and text production

Centre for Language, Literacy & Numeracy: Research and Practice (LLNR&P)

Seminar room 739
Institute of Education,
University of London
20 Bedford Way
London WC1H 0AL

23 June 2015
17.30–19.00

Host: LLNR&P

Book a place online on Eventbrite

For further details contact:

Nelly Joye

tel: 020 7911 5000

email:

n.joye@ioe.ac.uk

ucl.ac.uk/ioe

Speaker: Professor Michel Fayol

Reading, spelling and text production

The contribution of Emeritus Professor Michel Fayol (Blaise Pascal University, Clermont-Ferrand, FR) in the field of written symbolic systems applies to a wide range of education fields. His research focuses on written production and in particular on spelling and the different ways in which it can be acquired. He has also contributed to a large body of evidence in the field of numerical knowledge : from early number acquisition to the resolution of complex mathematical problems.

This summer lecture will explore the links between the cognitive processes involved in reading, spelling and written text production. There will be a 50 minute lecture followed by questions.

A drinks reception will be held at the end of the lecture from 19:00 to 20:00.

Admission is free but places are limited.

For more information, please visit the LLNR&P's webpage (UCL Institute of Education).